

The background features a large, abstract shape in shades of yellow and grey, resembling a stylized letter 'U' or a mountain. Scattered around this shape are several diagrams of particles and their interactions. These include clusters of small circles, some with internal cross-hairs, connected by solid and dashed lines with arrows indicating direction. Some lines are wavy, suggesting force fields or energy transfer. The overall style is mid-20th-century scientific illustration.

Utah's Athletic Chief

As one of the most versatile coaches the Skyline has known, Jack Curtice is famous for many things, but perhaps best known for long passes, tall tales and winning football.

In the three years since Jack took over as athletic director and head football coach at the University of Utah, he has shown the Skyline conference a wide-open style of football, his team having led the conference all three years in total offense. This has pleased the spectators, and has won two Skyline championships for the Utes.

As an after-dinner speaker, the ebullient Mr. Curtice has demonstrated sheer genius. He's ready to speak at the drop of a butter knife; in fact, spoke at 200 places last year. He always manages to charm audiences with his repertoire of anecdotes, all of which he swears are true, and some of which actually are.

Last year he added prognostication to his list of talents by predicting that second straight Utah grid title, a reputation he has hazarded this year by predicting an improved team over last season.

Jack was an all-conference player in both football and basketball at Transylvania College of Lexington, Kentucky, before his graduation in 1930. He held the national passing record in football for years, having thrown 23 TD passes in 1928. He received the trophy as outstanding basketball player in the Southern Intercollegiate conference and for three years was high scorer in that league, averaging 17 points a game.

As a naval officer in World War II, Curtice coached a Naval Air Station basketball team that generally was recognized as the best in the nation in 1944 and 1945. He is now a commander in the naval reserve.

Born in Glasgow, Kentucky, May 24, 1907, Curtice went to high school in Louisville, Kentucky, and was placed on the mythical national championship high school football team.

He entered the college coaching ranks in 1938 as head coach at West Texas State College, Amarillo, Tex. In four seasons there he won two conference titles, moving on to Texas Western at El Paso in January, 1942. He was called to naval service before the start of the 1942 season, but returned in 1945 to coach some great teams, including the 1948 and 1949 Sun Bowl squads.

† Curtice's 1948 and 1949 teams led the nation in total offense. For the past three seasons quarterbacks on Curtice teams have been among the nation's leaders in percentage of passes completed.

New honors came to Coach Curtice this past year when he was appointed to the national football rules committee.

Jack has a master's degree and has credits at Columbia University toward a doctor's degree. A devoted family man, he has three children, Gerry Ann, 17, Jack, 12, and Jim, 6.

Assistant Coaches

KARL SCHLECKMAN . . . taught a lot of football to opposing linemen in 1935-36-37, when he was bone-crushing tackle of the 60-minute variety for the Utah eleven. He now uses more subtle tactics to impart the same kind of knowledge to Ute linemen. "Punjab" was captain of both the football and wrestling squads in 1937, went undefeated in wrestling three years, and still can pin the best heavyweights around.

Since graduation he has served continuously as assistant football coach and P. E. staff member at the U., except during service as a naval officer in World War II.

PETE CARLSTON . . . was a great Utah end in the early 1930's and coaches the flankers. After graduation he coached at Park City; Mesa College, Grand Junction, Colo, and Westminster College. He served under Jack Curtice during his stint as a naval officer in World War II. Pete has handled all manner of coaching assignments since coming to Utah in 1946. He coached the frosh football squad and is still the team's leading talent scout. He also handles the varsity swimming team and in past seasons has assisted with track and coached the baseball squad.

PRES SUMMERHAYS . . . is another all-time Utah football great, having played as a triple-threat back in 1928 and 1929 on two of the Utah teams that enjoyed undefeated and untied seasons. New to the Ute staff last season, he quickly won wide admiration for his handling of the frosh grid squad. He also coached the Redskin baseball squad, which won the conference championship. Pres' Carbon high school teams won state football championships in 1938 and 1951. He served in the armed forces from 1941 to 1946.

SHERMAN R. (PETE) COUCH

. . . has been on the Utah coaching staff since 1930, and besides assisting with football has been assistant basketball coach. He has coached wrestling and tennis and currently is head coach of a track squad that perennially is division or conference champion. He graduated from the University of Utah in 1929 after playing halfback on the great U teams of that era.

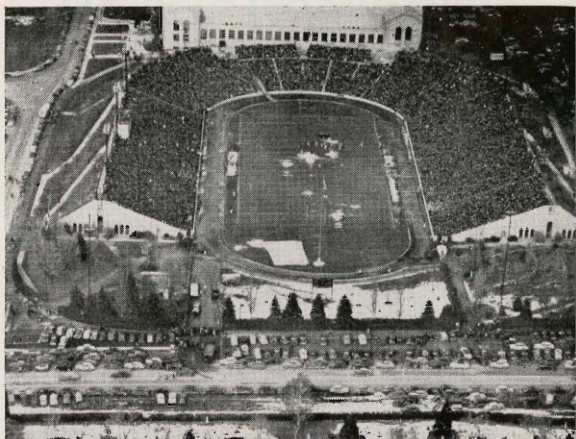

The Ute Staff

James R. (Bud) Jack is the personable, astute young business manager of Utah intercollegiate athletics. He served as a naval officer in World War II, then returned to his job as assistant to the graduate manager of student activities and ticket manager. Two years ago, while retaining his stewardship of the pasteboards, he became business assistant to the athletic director.

Einar Nielsen probably holds some kind of record for continuous service as an athletic trainer. He's the first and only trainer of Utah athletic teams, having taken a lifetime option on the job of 1914. "Doc" has served under four of the seven men who have coached Utah football, and has been counselor to two generations of athletes.

Lynn Bywater is finishing his second decade as equipment manager for U. athletics. He knows the shoe size of every kid who's aspired to be a football player in all those years, and as keeper of the keys has been a firm but softspoken and mighty helpful member of the athletic staff.

Parry D. Sorensen is director of public relations, and as such dispenses information on Utah athletic teams. He has charge of the press box and of press tickets to Red-skin athletic events. Parry is a former newspaperman, having worked for the Salt Lake City Deseret News, the Washington Post and the Los Angeles Examiner. He served four years as a special agent for the FBI during the war. His assistant is Ed Bliss, and sports assistant and statistician is Harry James.

Stadium Information

Name: Ute Stadium (the rounded north end, when used for events other than athletic contests, frequently is referred to as "Stadium Bowl").

Completed: 1927. Seats in north end built in 1947.

Result of first athletic contest in Stadium: Utah 44, Colorado Mines 6.

Construction: Timber and concrete with dirt fill.

Style: Horseshoe. Cinder track encircles football playing field. Open south end is landscaped.

Capacity: Approximately 30,000.

Biggest crowd for athletic contest: 29,132 (Utah vs. Utah State game of 1947).

Playing Field: Connected with Field House by concrete ramp-tunnel under north stands.

Lights: Playing field is lighted by 108 1500-watt narrow beam floodlights. The lights are 100 feet above the level of the playing field with 18 lights on each of six towers. In addition, each tower has four lights to illuminate stadium seats. The five towers in the parking area west of the stadium are each equipped with five 1500-watt lights. The two poles at the east and west entrances to the stadium are 100 feet high. Each of the 108 floodlights is focused on a different spot on the playing field. Completed in 1946.

The Outlook for 1953

Clairvoyant Coach Curtice before last season predicted a second straight Skyline conference championship for his Utes, who then proceeded to ring up five straight wins in the league.

This summer Curtice predicted a third straight title! His 1953 Utes, however, will have to play great ball to turn the trick, since the opposition—which includes powerhouses Colorado and Washington—looks as tough as any Cactus Jack has faced in his three previous years with the Redskins.

Utah's backfield looks exceptionally strong this year, and the ends are promising. Both the backs and ends are adapting well to the single platoon system. The team will be faster than any in the past three years but will be smaller than usual.

Curtice thus feels that the team will have to play an even more wide-open brand of ball—which is saying a good deal in view of the offensive tricks for which the Utes have been noted of recent years.

Key to the success of the squad in 1953 will be the line. If the linemen sustain few injuries this season the team should be up at least to the par of the past two years.

The Utes lost 17 lettermen and have 21 returning. Among those returning are two senior quarterbacks, Don Rydalch and Carter Cowley. Both are fine passers, Rydalch having led the conference in passing last season.

Newcomers to watch will be Lynn Simons, tackle; Lou Mele, a powerhouse fullback, and Herb Nakken, who will be the heaviest man in the backfield. Veterans who should make good showings this year include Don Petersen, Frank Branham, Jack Cross and Lynn Spindler in the backfield, and Dick Bubak, Don Jensen, Don Henderson, "Tiny" Grant, Jim Durrant, Spike Conley, Hal Bourne and the Simmons twins on the line.

The National Telecast

Some 60,000,000 spectators from coast to coast will be looking in on the Utah-Brigham Young game Thanksgiving day when NBC telecasts from Ute Stadium.

The Utah game is one of 12 selected by the NCAA television committee for broadcasting this season, and the first game from this section to be telecast nationally.

A vanguard from NBC-TV, headed by William Bennington, visited the University of Utah campus this summer to make preparations. Impressed with the mountain backdrop and the view of the Salt Lake valley, NBC plans to mount two cameras on the press box to catch the panorama. Another camera will be mounted inside the press box and a fourth will be placed on a 25-foot stand to be built around the flagpole at the south end of the playing field.

Sportscaster Mel Allen will do the play-by-play and Lindsey Nelson will handle the color. A total of 26 announcers, directors and technicians will be in the U press box for the game. The broadcast will be sponsored by General Motors.

Ute Captains this Season

DICK BUBAK (left) is a consistently fine performer with tremendous drive. A senior, he lettered twice, playing at end on both offense and defense. He rarely misses a block and is a fine pass receiver. Dick was an all-state prep end at Jerome, Ida., high school. He catches for the Ute baseball team. Married, he has one daughter.

JACK CROSS (right) is one of the hardest working players on the squad and merits great respect from his teammates. He was among the high scorers in the conference last season despite his shift from fullback to halfback. An above average student, he's studying law and is in the naval ROTC. Last year was president of the Associated Men Students. He prepped at Twin Falls high school.

DON JENSEN was the mainstay of the line last year at tackle, and for the past two seasons has played on both platoons. He won all-conference mention as a sophomore and junior and should have his greatest season this year. He lettered in football, basketball and track at Salt Lake City's East high school. Married, he has two children and works as a truck driver in the off season.

Short Sketches on Ute Players

QUARTERBACKS

DON RYDALCH was the squad's No. 1 quarterback last season—the leading passer in the conference and a heady signal-caller. In spring practice he looked good also as safety man and should have no difficulty adjusting to the single platoon system. Strong and wiry, he also is on the wrestling squad. Married last summer. Hails from Newdale, Ida., and held the Idaho prep passing record at Sugar-Salem high.

CARTER COWLEY is another excellent signal caller and passer who should see as much action as Rydalch this season. For the past two years he has been noted chiefly for his long kicks. Had some opportunity to replay the David-Goliath saga last year, for he threw some key blocks despite his slight stature. Played football, basketball and baseball at Davis high school. Married, and the only man on the squad with a son.

NEIL SORENSEN is the lightest man on the team but is a great competitor. He is a junior and an NROTC student. He'll be groomed for a starting role next season. Played football and tennis at Jordan high school.

DAVE DUNGAN quarterbacked Utah's exceptional freshman squad last season and by year's end had developed into a fine passer. Lettered in football, basketball and baseball at Reno, Nev., high school. Majoring in geology and enrolled in the NROTC. Because of the heavy competition won't start this season, but is looked on as a comer.

RIGHT HALFBACKS

JACK CROSS (see captains).

HERB NAKKEN seems to fit into the "Flying T" as if he were built for it. He is big, rough and fast and looked exceptionally good in the spring intrasquad game. Although only a soph, he'll see lots of football this season. Holds the Utah high school discus record. An AFROTC enrollee.

JED GIBSON is one of the best-liked players on the squad. He was the work-horse of the frosh squad last year and was a consistent ground gainer. Another AROTC man. Prepped at Tooele high school, and worked there this summer.

RAY FELLER is a Salt Lake City lad who prepped at West high school. A junior college transfer. Runs hard and looked good in spring practice. An army veteran.

CARL ROEPKE is another promising sophomore back. A flashy prep back at Burlingame, Cal., he captained the Northern California squad in the high school all-star game in Los Angeles coliseum. An NROTC student.

PAUL COOK, a senior, has been an outstanding defensive man for the past two seasons. He saw only limited action on offense, which might handicap him this season. He won letters in football, basketball and baseball at Davis high school and played in the outfield on Utah's conference championship baseball squad. He's an AFROTC cadet and farms in the summer.

LEFT HALFBACKS

LYNN SPINDLER is called a "steam engine" by his teammates. One of the fastest and strongest runners in the conference, he's the leading candidate for the LHB spot. A junior, majoring in engineering, he's a Korean vetran. Calls Brigham City home.

RICHARD BROWN is another veteran of the Los Angeles coliseum prep game. Prepped at San Dieguito high school in San Diego, Cal., where he also lettered in basketball, baseball and track. Likes surf boarding but finds little time for it as a construction worker in California during the summer. An NROTC cadet.

GEORGE FISHER is called "Mr. Five by Five" for obvious reasons—he stands only 5' 6" but weighs 205 lbs. Exceptionally fast for his weight. A veteran of 47 months in the army, he served in the occupation of Germany, was discharged as a sergeant. Prepped at Chicago, Ill., Vocational School. A sophomore and physical education major.

GENE PANTUSO is one of the most promising of a good crop of sophomore backs. He prepped at East high school, then served in the air corps at Clovis AFB. Has lots of speed and is a talented passer.

MAX PIERCE, a junior, came to the U from American Fork high school highly touted and has fulfilled the promise. A fine natural ball player, he's one of the fastest men on the squad. Played considerably on varsity when only a freshman and just missed lettering last season. Married, with two children. Enrolled in the AFROTC.

FULLBACKS

DON PETERSEN for two seasons has been one of the leading ground gainers in the conference. Last year he gained more yards in the Wyoming game than the entire opposing backfield—191 yards. Won the Quarterback Club player-of-the-week award. A smart, strong runner. Lettered in four sports at Bear River high school. Majoring in physical education and working toward an army commission. One of 13 married men on the team.

FRANK BRANHAM is probably the best pass receiver on the squad and is a great open-field runner. Was the leading scorer in the conference last year. Pappy will have a hard time picking between him and Petersen for the starting job. Full name is Franklin Delano Branham, but usually goes by "Set," or "Rebel." Prepped at Prestonburg, Ky. Married last summer. Works in the construction trades during the summers.

LOUIS MELE, up from last year's frosh team, is a great runner-blocker-kicker. Will probably do a lot of punting this year. Played under Pres Summerhays at Carbon high school, where he also lettered in basketball and baseball. Called "Fireplug" because of his stature. A physical education major and AROTC cadet.

JOE KINE, although injured in a summer job, should be in shape for a good season. Played semi-regularly as a freshman two seasons ago but has been used heretofore almost exclusively on offense. Very fast, he lettered in track as well as football at Boulder City high school. An ROTC student majoring in biology.

BEN GLOVER was a first-rate back at Box Elder high school and is getting back into harness after returning from a mission for the LDS church. Should be a top-notch addition to the backfield when he gets on to the rudiments of the Flying T. Had some freshman and varsity experience before his sojourn.

JAMES TARRO is a rugged and speedy back who came to the U by way of Ogden high school. Not too much is known of his capabilities otherwise because he sustained a knee injury last season on the frosh squad, but he looked good in spring practice.

C E N T E R S

CHARLES GRANT bears more than a little resemblance to Humphrey Pennyworth. The largest man on the squad. Has a great sense of humor. Has played both offense and defense and should draw the starting assignment this season. Played basketball at American Falls, Ida., high school also, and was leader and playing coach of a top intramural basketball team. Summers as a railroad worker. A physical education major, he's enrolled in the army ROTC. Nicknamed "Tiny."

TOMMY THOMPSON was an all-state high school player at Morgan high school and generally regarded as the best prep center in the state. Constantly improving, he should have his best year as a senior this season. Knee injuries have slowed him down a bit.

GAIL BROWN, a junior, has played guard and tackle as well as center. Also saw action as a linebacker. Should play lots of ball this year. Prepped at Murray high school. He's an accounting major and an AFROTC cadet.

CARL POGLAJEN was the outstanding player in the Shriner all-star high school game in 1951. Began his college football career as a tough, first-string center on the frosh squad and last year was a first-string linebacker until he was injured in the BYU game. Played football and baseball at Carbon high school and works in the construction trades in Sunnyside, Utah, during the summer.

NATHAN FORTE was the leading center on last year's freshman squad, is a good linebacker and fine offensive blocker. Served four years in the army. Prepped at Fenger high school in Chicago. Majoring in accounting.

TOM CHARLEBOIS, a junior, played basketball and football at Emerson high school in Gary, Ind. Played center as a freshman and was converted to end last year. Rugged and fast, he could see plenty of action this season. Majoring in business.

In Memorium

The Utah football squad this year mourns the loss of Roland K. Larsen, of Moab, a standout tackle and gentleman who had a fine career ahead of him as a football player and as an engineer. Roland was electrocuted July 20 while working for the Utah State Road Commission. An above average student and a cheerful companion who played the game, he will not soon be forgotten by his teammates.

RIGHT GUARDS

SPENCER CONLEY also goes by "Spike," an apt nickname. Big and tough as a quarterback, he was shifted to guard in spring practice and looks like the leading contender there. Played guard, end and QB in high school, so shifting positions is nothing new to him. Played defensive linebacker last season. Also lettered in swimming and plays intramural basketball. Majoring in electrical engineering and enrolled in the Air Force ROTC.

GERALD SIMMONS, half of a twin combination on the Redskin line, is another contender for a starting job. Prepped at Bear River high school and made most of the all-state selections in 1950. Has played mostly on defense. A physical education major and member of the AFROTC.

TOM MOORE was the best the frosh squad had in the center of the line last season. Was shifted from center to guard with good results. Threw the shot-put for the track squad last season and runs all the time to keep in shape. One of the fastest men on the line. At 225 lbs., also one of the biggest.

BILL JOHNSON is a top prospect from Las Vegas, Nev. Fits well into the Curtice offense. One of the standout linemen from last year's frosh team, although not one of the heftier guards.

HAL BOURNE has seen extensive action the past two seasons, mostly on offense, and may pull a starting assignment this year. Accepted for the University of Utah Medical College freshman class this year, he's been a scholar as well as a bang-up football player. Had a straight A average spring quarter and won the scholarship plaque last year. Boxed as well as played football at Davis high school.

LEFT GUARDS

JIM DURRANT, a senior, is the hardest charger on the squad and should take care of the left guard spot nicely this season. Not tall, but heavy and agile. Played chiefly on offense during the two-platoon era. Started as a halfback in high school at Payson, Utah. Married and is in the army ROTC.

DAROLD SIMMONS, a senior, is Gerald's twin brother. Should play right behind Durrant this season. Has speed and power and is a mighty rough tackler. Has been a member of the wrestling squad. From Beaver Dam, Utah, he's a physical education major and a member of the AFROTC.

ARLAN EVANS, a sophomore, is a redheaded flash up from the frosh team who looked exceptionally good in the intrasquad tiff. A Jordan high school alumnus from Riverton, Utah. Is in the AROTC.

DICK LEWIS, a junior, played first-string guard in the Shrine high school all-star game in 1951. Should come into his own as a college player this year. Played basketball and baseball, too, at Davis high school. Majoring in business. Farms in the summer. AROTC.

RIGHT TACKLES

DON JENSEN (see captains).

DON HENDERSON, a junior, was one of the most dependable linemen even as a freshman. One of the best-liked men on the team. Played at Berkeley high school but wasn't large enough to report until his junior year, when he promptly made all-state. No worries about his size now—220 lbs. Majoring in political science. Worked as a Fuller Brush salesman during the summer.

DONNIE BARR was a four-letter man at Uintah high school in Vernal. A sophomore, he was one of the big surprises of the spring game. Was switched to the line from the backfield and took to it like a duck to water. Another honor AROTC man. Majoring in commercial art and active in intramural athletics.

BERT COOPER was an all-state selection in high school in Ely, Nev. Played end for the frosh squad last year and starred on the freshman basketball team, too. Majoring in P.E. An AROTC cadet.

BOB BOGDEN started as a flanker as a freshman. Called a "wild man" by his teammates because of his absolute fearlessness on the line. A graduate of Murray high school, he lettered there in track as well as football. Working toward an artillery commission in the ROTC and majoring in economics.

LEFT TACKLES

LYNN SIMONS, only a sophomore, looks like the starter at this slot. One of the hottest prospects in years, he's tough and uses every inch of his 6' 2" to advantage. Also is one of the fastest linemen on the squad. Calls Las Vegas, Nev., home.

ROBERT GAWRONSKI was endowed with amazing good humor, which he doffs on the playing field. As tough and hard a player as you'll find, he's the pride of the Polish population of Chicago. Prepped at Fenger high school there. A premedical student. Plays intramural basketball.

GILBERT TAYLOR, a sophomore from Salt Lake City, is an improving ball player who should make the traveling squad. Showed lots of potential on last year's frosh team. Prepped at East high school. An NROTC student.

DAVE RASMUSSEN is another lineman up from the frosh ranks. An exceptionally good blocker, he should help the varsity this season. Tall and rugged. Hails from Vernal, Utah. Majoring in geology with plans of continuing his studies on the graduate level.

LYLE RANCK is an NROTC student from Salt Lake City, breaking into the varsity as a sophomore. Looked good in the spring game, although he had not played on the freshman squad the previous fall.

RONALD RUNNELLS, a senior, has been used chiefly on defense but will be working for a starting job this season. Shifted from guard to give depth to the tackle posts. A vicious tackler, but is recovering from a knee operation. Had a B plus average last spring in Law College. Prepped at Salt Lake City's Granite high school.

LEFT ENDS

ORVILLE NELLESTEIN was one of the finest defensive ends in the conference last year. Came to the U. from Ogden high school as a fullback and in his first varsity game, as a freshman, ran 66 yards for a touchdown. Switched to end last year, he played sensational ball against Colorado and thereafter. Majoring in physical education and is in the AROTC. Married this summer.

MORRIS NELSON was the highest scoring end on the squad last season. Has played almost exclusively on offense but should be able to handle defense, too, this year. Best bet for the starting job. Fast for his size, he won the 100-yard dash in intramural competition. A Carbon high school graduate, he hails from Columbia, Utah, where he works in the coal mines during the summer. Loves to ski and plays the tenor sax. A senior majoring in chemical engineering.

BUD CROSS is little brother to Jack Cross. Although only a sophomore he should play lots of ball this season. He is a fine end both offensively and defensively and a first-rate placekicker. Like his brother, he's an NROTC student. Is from Twin Falls, Ida.

DOUG PALLAY entered the U in time to play baseball two years ago but still is a sophomore. Fast and a tricky runner. Another of those stalwart Fenger high school lads from Chicago who have bolstered Utah's grid stock. An AFROTC cadet.

DEAN HUNTLEY, a sophomore, shines as a blocker and is developing into a good receiver. Had a good year last season on the frosh team. Prepped at Riverton, Wyo. Is in the AFROTC and majoring in history.

VAR SELLE WEAVER, a senior, has been an excellent defensive wingman for two years. Called "the bouncer" because of his pep. Was a sergeant with the 11th airborne infantry in Japan and now has a reserve commission, earned through the ROTC. A pre-medical student, he prepped at North Cache high school. Was also on the track team there. Works as a salesman during the summers.

RIGHT ENDS

DICK BUBAK (see captains)

DAVE GERMANN, a big boy with a ready smile, played ball at Berkeley, Cal., high school with Henderson and Conley. Also played basketball and baseball there. Nicknamed "bird-dog." Should play right behind Bubak this season. An outstanding AROTC cadet, he won a trip to Long Beach, Cal., last year. Majoring in physical education.

JACK WADE has the drive and heart to stay up with the leading contenders for the starting job at right end. Used mostly as a placekicker the past two seasons. Was a standout for Millard high school's championship team and starred there in basketball and track. An art major and AROTC cadet.

TOM ADAMS, another standout on last year's freshman team, was an all-state player at Tooele high school, where he also played basketball and baseball. An excellent blocker and good pass receiver. An AROTC student.

THE UTAH BAND

With pardonable pride, Utahns regard the 120-piece U. of U. band as the best to emerge in the Rocky Mountains. Taking over in 1948, Band Director Ronald D. Gregory brought rich imagination and know-how to the organization. The band quickly won acclaim throughout the west. Modeled on the great mid-western marching bands, the Utah organization marches at a cadence of 180 steps a minute and performs intricate formations.

No small part of the band's success is due to the ability of shapely, petite Vanet Sorensen (vital statistics: 105 lbs., 5'1½", 34"-23"-33"), a 21-year-old junior who for the past two years has been the leading drum majorette. She has been twirling for ten years and has taught at baton-twirling clinics.
